- I'm of the band that till the land, And draw from earth her store Right knopy indeed's the life we lend, While our slave are powing o'et,
- Many there are in riches far passing the farmer's purse
- Yet offen produce much worse. We envy not the statesman's lot,
- Nor his that fights for glory's rights At some redoubted pass. North & have we on boosterons sea, Nor fears the tempests whelen,
- All we present without redress While laboring at the leilm.
- The fruitful fields their bounties yield, A rich reward for toil;
- Be ours the trave to ply the spade, And desply play the roll; We walk abroad o'er carpet sod,
- And flow retakes our feet, Whose odoes rise to seem the skies-
- A tribute pure and meet. To all we give the means to live, As a bowher shares with brother,
- And they fulfill the boly will That hids us love each other.
